MARCH, 2020

Mayor's Report

2020 is starting off as a very busy year. The water and sewer projects are moving forward as we seek the funding to pay for these projects. Last week I presented our case before the Utah Division of Water Quality. They approved a $186,000 planning advance to help complete the planning for this project. They are also taking under advisement the request for the remaining costs of this project with a decision to come in March. Although we do not anticipate the full funding for this project to come from this source any support we can get helps.

I also attended a meeting for the Cache County Solid Waste Board. There are some changes in refuse collection that you need to be aware of. For many years the service district has provided green waste collection bins at no cost throughout the county. Due to continued misuse of the bins and the associated costs of servicing them, approximately $200,000/year, general service will no longer be provided. As a compromise green waste bins will be provided twice a year during the month of April and again in the fall during the month of October. All other times during the year green waste can be dumped free of charge at the landfill located in Logan.

This change only effects the green waste collection. The solid waste bin which has been made available is paid for by Lewiston City and it will continue to be provided. However, as I have addressed several times in the past this service has been severely abused. Continued abuse could have an impact in the long-term viability of the service.

There are also some other changes in the solid waste collection service. The materials allowed in the blue recycle bins are changing as a result of the contraction of the recycle market. I have included a picture of the materials that are presently allowed. The Solid Waste District is also imposing restrictions on the use of plastic bags which will affect the retailers throughout the county that use plastic bags for bagging groceries and other purchases.

If you have concerns or questions regarding the changes with solid waste management, please contact the Cache County Council as they are the governing body responsible for the policies and practices of the service district.
